The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Tuesday September 1. to Saturday September 5. 1724.

Madrid, Auguſt 28, N. S.

HIS Catholick Majeſty is now in the Seventh Day of his Illneſs of the Small-Pox Count Robin arrived here the 20th Inſtant from Paris. The Marqueſs de Caylus, who was ſent laſt Year to Galicia as Captain General of that Kingdom, is recalled hither. The Abbot de Livry, his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty's Ambaſſadour to the King of Portugal, proceeded from hence to Day on his Journey for Lisbon.

Chambery, Aug. 30, N.S. On the 18th the Princeſs of Piedmont arrived at Morges in the Pais de Vaux on the North Side of the Lake of Geneva, where was a Concourſe of ſome Thouſands of Gentry and Common People from all Parts of Switzerland to ſee her Highneſs. On the 19th ſhe embark'd on Board a very handſome Brigantine provided by the Regency of Berne, with five others for her Retinue, and ſet Sail for Thonon; but the Wind proving contrary and boiſterous, her Highneſs was forced to return to Morges after about an Hour's Navigation. On Sunday Morning the 20th, the Weather proving fair, her Highneſs's Brigantine put out again; and the Prince of Piedmont perceiving by the Firing of the Cannon the Time of her Departure, immediately ſet out with two Brigantines to meet her. As ſoon as the Brigantines joined, his Royal Highneſs went on Board the Princeſs's with three Gentlemen only, and conducted her ſafe to the Savoy Shore. The ſame Night the Marriage was confirmed by the Biſhop of Annecy, and conſummated. The Court remained at Thonon all Monday, and next Day came forward towards Annecy, where they arrived on Wedneſday, and ſtayed Thurſday and Friday: On Saturday they dined at the Caſtle of Greyſy, within half a League of Aix, and at Night made their Entry into Chambery, which has been illuminated for three Nights ſucceſſively. The Senate and Magiſtracy paid their Reſpects on Sunday, and all the Nobility of both Sexes the Day following. Her Royal Highneſs was Yeſterday indiſpoſed. His Sardinian Majeſty does not intend to begin his Journey for Turin till the exceſſive Heats be over: They will laſt probably to the Middle of September, when the Autumn Rains uſually fall. Every thing is exceſſive dear and ſcarce at Chambery, the Concourſe of People being very great, and the Country not abounding in Proviſions. The Court appear'd for three Days in great Splendour, but the Mourning is now reſumed for Madame Royale, and will laſt till the firſt Week in March.

Turin, Aug. 30, N.S. The 27th Inſtant being the Queen's Birth-Day, moſt of the Nobility went to Rivoli to pay their Compliments to her Majeſty: The Cannon of the Citadel were diſcharged, and a Battallion of each of the Regiments of Fuſiliers and Montferrat were upon that Occaſion under Arms on the Place Royale, and fired three Vollies. The Court is not expected here till the 20th of next Month. The Summer has been hotter here than has been known theſe many Years; the Heats ſtill continue very violent, ſo that the Country ſuffers extreamly for want of Rain.

Kenſington, September 2.

His Excellency Hag Abdelcader Perez, Ambaſſadour from the Emperour of Morocco, was this Day introduced to a private Audience of Leave of their Royal Highneſſes the young Princeſſes, by Sir Clement Cottrell, Kt. Maſter of the Ceremonies.
